Pupil Data Checking Sheet

There was certainly a buzz around school last week about the new reading books. By the end of today all children in school should be bringing home some of the new books. They are on a range of interesting topics; we hope you enjoy them. Reminder that from today, your child can bring their reading diaries into school every day. Book changeover days remain the same.

Thank you to all the parents who have completed the online questionnaire about remote learning. This is really helpful for us to see who needs what resources to support at home should we enter into another lockdown/closure. Our plan, should this happen, is to continue to use Class Dojo but with some recorded teacher inputs to support with English, Maths and wider curriculum activities. We are finalising our remote learning policy and will have this ready in the coming weeks to share.

Please can you complete and return your completed form to school by Friday 2nd October.

Thank You

We will also be considering how to support those families who don't have access to Dojo. If you need us to send you invites again to join, please let us know.

We have been enjoying our virtual celebration assemblies on a Friday and it is lovely to be able to hear the children clapping and encouraging children in the different class bubbles from afar. We now have the reading raffle, one ticket drawn per class to increase the chance of winning. This is going so well that I need to buy a new stock of book prizes! Well done everyone!

Finally, as the weather turns colder, please make sure that your child has warm clothes in school (jumper and cardigans) as we follow government guidance, keeping windows open to allow increased ventilation in the classrooms.

I hope that you have a lovely week in school.

With best wishes,

Jude
